REPORT OF TOWN HISTORY COMMITTEE

January 7, 1954

The work of the Town History Committee can be summarized briefly as follows:

1. Sorting and filing of material forwarded by Mr. Maro Brooks. This was an accumulation of ten or more years' work of the former Committee. This was begun by the whole Committee with Mrs. Upton and Mrs. Johnson taking on the genealogies in particular. Records of several families have now been completed. Gifts and loans of Town Reports from Mrs. Charles Upton, Mrs. Lilla Upton, Charles Fogg, Fred O. Johnson, and Mrs. Frederic Gleason have made a complete set for the use of the Committee. A gift from Mrs. Hanson of a great number of Peterborough Transcripts dated in the early 1900s has been a source of much information. Mrs. Johnson's work on the Town Church history and Mrs. Stearns' work on the old houses on Main Street tie in closely with the general Town History. Folders for information have been sent to many families not already recorded. Some have been filled out, others have been neglected or ignored.

2. Sixteen townspeople have kindly consented to work on special topics.

3. A request for material through the Hancock column in the Peterborough Transcript, has brought one response from California. Mr. Stewart D. Weston has offered his father's old Town History "stuffed with clippings" concerning Hancock and its residents. His father, Mr. George F. Weston was born in Hancock in 1853.

4. May we ask for your cooperation. If you receive a genealogy folder please return it as soon as possible. If you have material, old papers, pictures, articles about Hancock and the residents, may we have them to use? They will be received gladly, and will be returned. Any member of the Committee will accept this material:

Mrs. Willis Johnson, Secretary

Mr. Harold Stearns, Treasurer

Mrs. Charles Upton

Mrs. Harold Stearns

Miss Cynthia Upton

Mrs. H. Thorn King

Mr. Willis Johnson

Mr. H. Thorn King, Chairman

We wish that the work could be finished for Hancock's 175th anniversary, but this is not possible.

This report is made from reports kindly submitted by Committee members.

Respectfully submitted,

H. THORN King, Chairman

HANCOCK, 1953

Shall we drive around? Except for the hunting season, few walk. Let's have a look at what changes in the past year show on the landscape. With a full abundance of woodlands and brush-grown fields, naturally we should turn first to our wild animal life, then to man's activities.

Bill Hanson could have told us that with the record-breaking acorn crop last fall there would be more squirrels, mice and woodchucks, and consequently, foxes. Indeed, mouse traps snapped merrily this fall; the highways fairly danced with gray and red squirrels—the deer fattened nicely, too, and so did the partridge.

It could be plainly noted, amid aging maples and elms, that several barns are distinctly missing. Joe Russell from Peterborough—the one-man demolition expert—got busy on Paul Dalys' and Hudsons' and is eyeing the Harringtons'. The Sheriffs' barn (the old Fowle place) was taken apart by Roy Finan and Bill Weston, while Dick Noyes had his leveling supervised by Perley Dunbar. Joe Quinn merely lowered his barn, taking off the top half. Farming isn't looking up and it's costly to prop up leaning buildings no longer useful.

But tangled are the trends of history, for it must be noted that the Lawrence Paquettes have added to their farm and so have David and Mary Rochford.

The old squared timbers of the Noyes' barn grace the expanded and embellished Eva-Moore ex-farmhouse, whose stone underpinnings were so artfully put in place by the town's top stone mason, Willis Johnson, who can pick a rock's face and base as well as any of the old vanished tribe of stone wall builders. Incidentally, after 12 years on the telephone exchange, the Evas' retirement from the switchboard was the occasion of a well attended reception in the Vestry.

To go on about the barns, some of the hand-hewn beams from Dalys' and some of the floor planking from the Hudsons' form the roof of a shed up at King Street Farm. And the Westons have some new structures from the salvage of the Sheriffs'.

It doesn't appear that Reg Hubbard, who is building his second house on Norway Hill, (it takes three, Reg, to get the perfect house) used any hundred year old barn timbers, or for that matter did the Merrills, who also built on the Hill. Nor did the McGreals or Howard Pierce (both of Peterborough) draw on old timbers for their new cabins up Nubanusit way. Ralph Rokes didn't use any in enlarging the Troesch's place on the Old Dublin Road; the same goes for the new house abuilding for the Lambert Murphys by Errol Simonds, and for John Hill's, which he mostly built by himself.

But right plunk in town stands the most conspicuous addition to our new structures; yet the smallest, for it measures but 4x4x8 feet. Dan Devens says if you turned out the neon light it would make a good sentry box, if the Russians should come. Dorothy Clark says, undoubtedly paraphrasing Aristotle, (and it stands right next to the Post Office) that telephoning is all right but people will always write letters.

Dropping in on Pauline Crowell is a good way to catch up on the year's events. Anniversaries she records, like the 50th of the Willis Footes, the 25th for the Bill Fishers, the Jules Pickerings, the William Westons, the Leslie Wrights and the Stuart Bradleys. Also one could note the last of the charming Gunther triplets and the animated Cathie Quinn wore bridal veils. All this and much more was in the Hancock column of the Peterborough Transcript. The burning of Fred Gleason's lumber mill; the incredible story of Willis Higgins catching a mink by the tail, were press agency dispatches that went out over the teletypes across the nation, set in motion by Nancy West.

It doesn't show on the outside, but several thousand dollars, probably six before they are through, were obligated this year for freshening up the interior of our landmark and pride, the Meeting House.

Among the Town's organizations, it appears, the Grange has been noteworthy; not for repainting but for increasing its membership to 85 and showing distinct signs of renewed life. This was the year the members of the Sportsmen's Club, still the liveliest group in Town, built a trout fly fishing pool on the land of Mrs. Harry Sheldon across from Foster Avery's, below the Old Cemetery. Peg Bergethon, helped by Barbara Wheeler, re-established the Girl Scouts. And so it goes. . .

Tom Kierstead was welcomed in March as our new Selectman. He was chosen at a Town Meeting, melodious and calm; no burning issues in the Warrant. The Town's finances are sound. It was no day to test the skill of Moderator Karl Upton; consequently Mildred could relax.
